Survey Reveals Little Change in Use of Coffee Here

DRINKER'S COLUMN: Timotheus made a survey yesterday and didn't come up with much of a conclusion except I guess it doesn't matter what the price is, we'll be around to pay it.

I didn't make a comprehensive survey. Making a comprehensive survey takes effort. All I did was to go up in a brazen manner to persons I saw and ask them "What are you drinking these days?"

I got different answers on that point, but when I got more specific and explained that I wanted to know if they had changed their coffee habits at home since the price of the bean has soared, I got a lot of answers which in effect were "No change at all."

I got off to a bad start on my survey because the first person I asked said "Don't drink it." Just like that. "Don't drink it."

The next two I saw said there was no change at all, that they made just as much and drank just as much.

I ran across a person who said "no change," then qualified the remark a bit by saying that they're not throwing away these days after it's been made. If there's any left at any time it will be used up and consumed. The next said his family is being more careful and if the price goes any higher there's liable to be a change.

And the next one said just about the same, that they're being more careful and drinking every drop that's been made.

"We drink very little, anyhow," was the next response I got to my questioning. The next two I talked with gave similar answers. They said that they have cut coffee drinking about in half, with hot tea filling the bill for the evening meal.

An Eldorado woman I knew came along and when I asked her about the coffee situation, she said "I think I'm making more than ever, now that it's high. Since it's got high it seems like I want it more."

And the next said there was no change—same amount made, same amount imbibed.

"We don't drink coffee at our house and the only time we have it is when there's company," a man told me. "We drink quite a bit of tea and gobs of sweet milk."

I was told by a woman that her family has started using instant coffee.

"That way we can make just the amount we want to drink," she said. "We don't waste any that way."

Next person said "I don't believe we're making quite as much as we did" and the last person I talked with said "We haven't made any changes at all—we like it too much."

Please pass the sugar and cream.

Speed Program, Eisenhower Urges Congress

Senate Considers 958 Million Dollar Cut in Excise Taxes

By United Press
President Eisenhower asked Congress today to speed action on the big legislative program he proposed early in this session.

The President said at his weekly news conference that there is no need yet for what he called slambang emergency action to curb unemployment.

But he urged that Congress show some speed on his legislative program. He went on to say, however, that the House had done good—magnificently, in fact. He handed it that praise for passing his tax reform bill which will save taxpayers $1,397,000,000 a year.

As for the Senate—the way that chamber operates, he said, it needs a little more time than the House. It's a matter of rules.

The President made his speedup request as the Senate considered a 958-million-dollar cut in excise tax levies which the administration does not want. The general tax reform measure won't come up in the Senate until later.

Other congressional news:

Army: Chairman Leverett Saltonstall (R-Mass.) of the Senate Armed Services Committee said he thought the issue of Communists in the armed services had been blown up too much. The committee is considering legislation to keep Reds out of the military. Saltonstall did not refer directly to the quarrel between the Army and Sen. McCarthy. But he said "extraneous factors have made this problem far larger than it really is."

Pearson: Sen. McCarthy said columnist Drew Pearson engaged in "violation of the Espionage Act" with two former government employees named "Murray." He made the charge at a Senate Appropriations subcommittee hearing on Justice Department funds. The Justice Department has assured McCarthy it is actively investigating. He said Pearson got "secret" information from the two men at various times.

Taft-Hartley: The Senate Labor Committee approved a proposal by President Eisenhower that fact finding boards be permitted to make settlement recommendations in emergency strike cases when the government has obtained 80-day injunctions under the Taft-Hartley Act. As the act stands, such boards may not recommend settlement terms.

Cattle: A delegation of cattlemen urged before the House Agriculture Committee that Congress provide price support for cattle. The committee said this could be done by direct subsidies, if necessary to prevent beef from piling up in government warehouses.

Hudson, Nash Stockholders Approve Merger

DETROIT — Stockholders of Hudson Motor Car Co. and Nash-Kelvinator Corp. voted to merge their auto firms today in the biggest automotive transaction in almost 30 years.

The vote was overwhelmingly in favor of the merger. Nash stockholders voted 3,277,754 to 238,115 for the plan. The Hudson margin was smaller—1,419,268 to 240,870.

The resulting auto company—American Motors Corp.—will be the fourth largest in the industry behind General Motors, Ford and Chrysler.

Hudson and Nash cars will retain their identity becoming divisions of the parent company, much like the General Motors set up.

President George W. Mason of Nash will become chairman of the board. President A. E. Barit of Hudson will be one of two Hudson representatives on the 10-member American Motors board.

Present Nash-Kelvinator shares will be traded one for one in the new stock issue. Hudson shares will be traded three for two of American Motors.

Groves is Low Bidder on Dixon Springs Highway

The S. J. Groves and Sons Construction Co. of Springfield is the apparent low bidder to build the Mitchellville to Dixon Springs highway.

Bids were opened at Springfield yesterday and this company, which is well-known in this area, submitted a low bid of $2,885,000 to construct the approximately 23 miles of concrete highway.

The bid is subject to finalization by the state division of highways before a contract will be awarded. When the award is made, it is expected that not much time will be wasted in getting busy on the road. State Public Works Director Edwin A. Rosenstone said contract awards on accepted bids will be made within two days.

The project calls for the following:

A total of 11.49 miles of concrete pavement on Federal Aid Route 163 from approximately one-fourth mile south of Illinois Route 146 northeast to Eddyville, a bridge over Hayes creek and .02 mile of miscellaneous work on Federal Aid Secondary Route 932 near Robbs; and 11.35 miles of concrete pavement on Federal Aid Route 163 from Eddyville north to Mitchellville.

Around $1,200,000 in work already has been done on this route for grading an culverts and when finished will give this area a much shorter paved route into the Metropolitan-Joppa-Paducah area, cutting off about 18 miles from the route down U. S. 45.

The nearly $3,000,000 slated to be spent on this road in Saline and Pope counties is part of $17,000,000 in road projects throughout the state submitted for the same letting.

He was assisted in showing the pictures by his father, L. N. Davernport.

TUCSON, ARIZONA BOYS' CHORUS—Under auspices of the Harrisburg Community Concert association, the above group will be presented here Friday evening. The program, which will begin at 8 o'clock at the Bonnell gymnasium, will include classics, carols, folk songs, Mexican novelties and westerns.

GOP Move to Oust Senator Chavez Fails

Five Republicans Join Democrats In 53 to 36 Vote

WASHINGTON (UP)—The long Republican effort to oust Democrat Dennis Chavez of New Mexico from the Senate was entered finally as a failure.

It began 15 months ago when Republican Patrick J. Hurley, his opponent, charged that Chavez' reelection to the Senate was illegal because of widespread fraud and other irregularities in the New Mexico balloting of November, 1952.

It ended on the Senate floor late Tuesday with a surprisingly strong vote, 53-36, which said in effect that Chavez was the legal victor and entitled to keep the Senate seat he has occupied for 19 years.

The resolution proposed to unseat Chavez by declaring that neither he nor Hurley was the winner and the senatorial balloting in New Mexico was "no election."

It was based on a $200,000 investigation by a Senate elections subcommittee. The Republican majority of the subcommittee said the voting, in which Chavez received 5,000 more votes than Hurley, was "so permeated with fraud" it was impossible to tell who actually won.

Five Republicans and Independent Wayne Morse (Ore.) joined Chavez' 47 Democratic colleagues who voted solidly against the resolution in their most impressive show of strength this session.

The Republicans who crossed over were Sens. Margaret Chase Smith and Frederick G. Payne, both of Maine; George D. Aiken (Vt.); John Sherman Cooper (Ky.); and H. Alexander Smith (N.J.). Two other Republicans—Sens. William Langer (ND) and Thomas H. Kuchel (Calif.) were paired against the resolution.

Chavez could have voted, but he abstained. When it was finished, he issued a statement claiming vindication for himself and his state. "Despite all allegations and despite unfair criticism in the press, New Mexico elections are as honest as any conducted in the country," Chavez said.

Tom Davenport Shows Colored Movies of Europe to Kiwanis Club

Tom Davenport, who spent several months in Germany as a lieutenant with the U. S. Fourth division, stationed at Frankfurt, showed colored moving pictures of Germany and Holland to members of the Kiwanis club last night at the Masonic temple.

His pictures were of non-military places in Frankfurt, Cologne, Heidelberg, Wurzburg and Worms, Germany, and from a trip to Holland last May during the tulip season. His pictures of Holland showed acres and acres of the beautiful flowers in bloom for the famous festival, and included the towns of Amsterdam, The Hague and Rotterdam.

His pictures included those taken aboard ship on his return home with his bride.

He was assisted in showing the pictures by his father, L. N. Davernport.

Goes Berserk After Drinking Vanilla Extract; Wounded in Battle with Police

CHICAGO — Too much vanilla extract was blamed today for the berserk actions of Paul J. Pauling, who tried to kill two policemen with a rifle and bayonet and then fought a gun battle with 75 other officers.

Pauling, wounded eight times in the wild fight, said "I don't know why I did this. . . I had no reason."

Doctors at St. James Hospital in suburban Chicago Heights said Pauling, 35, had been drinking vanilla extract.

He was finally subdued in a farm field in Rich Township Tuesday night after attempting one last "bayonet charge" in the glaring beam of police spotlights.

At least 500 shots were fired in the gun battle and one officer seriously wounded in the chest before Pauling, a resident of Monee, Ill., was captured, police said.

Homemade Bayonet
The trouble began when Pauling hailed policemen Otto Svehla, 25, and Edward Rees, 42, of Berwyn, Ill., on a highway. He had stopped his own car.

They stopped their squad car and Pauling snoved a bayonet-equipped 22 caliber rifle through the window and shouted, "I'm going to kill you." The bayonet was homemade.

He wounded Svehla as both officers jumped from the car. They returned his fire and he ran into the farm field. Sheriff's deputies, state police and officers from six south suburbs answered the alarm.

Pauling was surrounded and pinned down in a gully by police spotlights. Several times he was felled by gunfire.

Selecting Jury For Murder Trial Of Enfield Man

CARMI, Ill. — Selection of jurors for the murder trial of Raleigh Williams, 34, Enfield, continued today after only four jurors were named in two days of questioning 72 prospective jury members.

Williams is accused of the fatal shooting of White County Deputy Sheriff Lowell Proctor, 62, at Enfield Dec. 26. Proctor died two days later of chest and stomach wounds.

Proctor was shot as he attempted to arrest Williams, an oilfield worker, and a companion for allegedly creating a disturbance while drunk.

State's Atty. William H. South and Special Prosecutor Ivan A. Elliott, Sr., a former attorney general, are handling the prosecution. Defense attorneys are D. F. Rumsey and Trafton Dennis of Harrisburg. South indicated he will seek the death penalty.

Fifty more veniremen were to be questioned today and plans were made to call more if necessary.

Cost of Living Index Shows Slight Decline

WASHINGTON — The cost of living declined slightly last month, the government reported today.

The Bureau of Labor Statistics reported that its consumer price index fell 2.10th of 1 per cent between mid-January and mid-February, putting the index at 115 per cent of average 1947-49 prices.

The decline, the third this winter, was brought by lower prices for food, transportation, clothing, television sets and radios, movie tickets, and a number of other goods and services.

The decline was not enough to affect the wages of one-million railway workers whose pay is tied to the price index.

BLS Commissioner Ewan Clague noted the "widespread" nature of the February price declines. He said "the general business situation undoubtedly is affecting the price situation."

Prices Still Stable
Clague indicated he thinks there may be a further decline in the cost of living this month.

He said, however, that prices are "still stable" and there is "no indication" that the bottom is going to drop out.

He said he believes prices will continue to fluctuate within a fairly narrow range as they have over the past year.

The February drop in the index reflected a 4.10th of 1 per cent drop in retail food prices, mainly fresh vegetables, meats, poultry, milk, and eggs.

Of 46 cities surveyed, 39 reported lower average food prices.

Coffee, however, continued to rise—to prices 8.12 per cent higher over December, 1953. A 5 per cent rise in February brought the U. S. average retail price to 99.4 cents a pound in mid-February, with reports of further increases since then.

John Anderson, 75, is Found Dead at Eldorado

John Anderson, about 75, father of Murel Anderson of Harrisburg, was found dead in a vacant lot at Eldorado this morning. Death apparently was due to natural causes.

The body was found by Barney Pilkington, who saw it as he was walking in front of the lot.

The lot, on South State street just south of the New York Central railroad tracks, was being cleaned off by Mr. Anderson for a garden.

Charlie Horton, formerly of Harrisburg and now living in Eldorado, told Coroner Elmer M. Gibbons that Mr. Anderson, whom he had known for years, was clearing off a lot for him so that he could put in a garden. Horton told Gibbons that Anderson had suffered from heart trouble.

Frank Baker, who lives adjacent to the lot, said he had seen and talked with Mr. Anderson about 4:30 p. m. yesterday while he was clearing off the lot. Presumably he had died a short time afterwards.

Mr. Horton said that he was told by neighbors that Mr. Anderson, who lived about a block and a half from the lot, did not come home last night and he went down to the lot to investigate, arriving just a few minutes after Pilkington found the body.

Mr. Anderson at one time lived north of Harrisburg and he was a retired coal miner, Mr. Horton said.

The body was moved to the Bean and Tanner funeral home in Eldorado.

Says Federal Program is Not Necessary

Believes Action Now Would Endanger Orderly Upturn

WASHINGTON — President Eisenhower said today that unemployment has not reached a point where a slambang emergency federal program is necessary.

The President made these remarks shortly after the Commerce Department published a report showing that business is still on a slight downgrade.

Mr. Eisenhower said the continuing increase in unemployment is admittedly dangerous. But he added that it has not reached the point where the federal government should take emergency action.

An emergency program at this time, the President said, might dampen the chances of an orderly business upturn later in the spring.

The President's statements were evoked by a reminder from a newsmen that on Feb. 17 he had referred to March as a key month for planning government action if unemployment continued to rise.

The President was asked whether, in view of continuing increases in unemployment, the administration is projecting a new policy at this time.

Assumes Rise Will Continue
Mr. Eisenhower explained that March is normally the month for a seasonal business upturn. But it is difficult to measure this year, he said, because of the lateness of Easter and the resultant delay in spring buying.

Because of this delay in the normal spring upturn, the President said he assumes the rise in unemployment will continue until April.

From what has developed at daily economic conferences at the White House, he said, the only thing he is sure of is that nothing has developed to call for a slambang emergency program to be applied at this moment.

The President said that, on the other hand, many economic aids already are in operation. He particularly mentioned easier credit and availability of money.

The Commerce Department said in its March "survey of current business" that the "gradual easing" of the economy, which started last July, continued in the early part of this year.

Durable goods industries and mining were reported the hardest hit. Durable goods are such things as autos, refrigerators and television sets.

Prices Remain Firm
On the brighter side, the Agriculture Department estimated today that farmers got 1.12 per cent more for crops and livestock they marketed last month than they did the same time a year ago. The total — $1,930,000,000 — represented a seasonal drop from January, however.

The business decline, the Commerce Department report said, "has resulted in large part from the continued liquidation of inventories, particularly in manufacturing industries, and a further drop in activity in plants producing defense goods."

The dips in these fields have caused an increase in unemployment from 1,200,000 last October to about 3,700,000 and a 10-per cent drop in industrial production since last July.

Factory workers retaining their jobs also have averaged a shorter work week with less high-paying overtime.

Prices have remained firm, however. Consumers purchases and investments have declined by only small amounts in the aggregate. Disposable income has been bolstered by income tax cuts.

DREW PEARSON Says: Republicans Turn Sour On GOP
Chairman Of Committee On Un-American Activities; Dulles
Ducks McCarthy Issue In Senate; Eisenhower Perfects Tip-top Lobbying Organization In Congress.

WASHINGTON. — The House committee on Un-American Activities, now pretty well dwarfed by the gymnastics of a senator from Wisconsin, is having one of its few full-committee meetings today. One reason for its infrequent meetings is that Republicans as well as Democrats have been sore at the helter-skelter tactics of the committee's unpredictable chairman, Harold Velde. Another is that subcommittee meetings have been held in key areas partly to unearth embarrassing political information that will influence local elections.

Republicans are still sore over the way Velde subpoenaed Harry Truman without consulting other committee members. They feel this balled up the carefully laid Brownell plan to pin the Harry Dexter White matter squarely on Truman.

These are some of the reasons why Republicans in Velde's own congressional district are planning to run another Republican against him in the Illinois primary.

Meanwhile, one Republican on Velde's own committee, GOP Congressman Pat Kearney of New York, a former commander of the American Legion, is thumbs down on Velde and sometimes votes with the Democrats. However, one Democrat, Morgan Moulder of Missouri, sometimes sides with Velde.

DOUBLE STANDARD
One day, after the White House staged a record lobbying drive with the House of Representatives to pass the President's tax bill and preserve teamwork between the executive and Congress, John Foster Dulles took an opposite stand before the Senate Foreign Relations committee.

Asked by Senator Fulbright of Arkansas why he didn't do something about the way McCarthy was wrecking American foreign policy abroad, the secretary of state replied:

"It is not my responsibility as a member of the executive branch to get into a problem which I believe is the responsibility of legislative branch."

TAX VICTORY
The Eisenhower tax victory in the House of Representatives marks not only one step up on the Republican tax program but the development of the smoothest-working machine Capitol Hill has seen in years.

Every President tries to develop a lobbying organization with Congress—some successfully, some not so successfully. FDR was highly successful. Harry Truman was not.
At first President Eisenhower maintained a hands-off policy, but of late he has gone in for pressuring Congress as vigorously—and perhaps more expertly—than any other recent president.

In order to defeat the $700 tax-dependency allowance, recalcitrant Republicans were promised jobs and campaign funds if they voted right; were called traitors to the party if they voted wrong. One of the most effective lobbying weapons was the old Citizens for Eisenhower committee, now renamed the Committee to elect a Republican Congress, which has been collecting fat-cat campaign funds and has threatened to withhold them from non-conforming Republicans.

That was why GOP Congressman Ayres of Akron, who warned that to vote against the $700 dependency allowance meant defeat, changed his mind and voted for what he said was defeat.

20 TOUGH REPUBLICANS Toughest job the White House and GOP leaders had was with 20
Republicans who had introduced bills similar to the Democratic proposal to increase the dependency income-tax allowance. Had even half of these 20 stuck to their convictions, the Republican tax bill would have lost. Pressure was so heavy however, and lobbying so persuasive that only four stuck to their guns — Mrs. Rogers, Mass.; Saylor, Penn.; Pillion, N. Y.; Bennett, Mich. (the latter did not vote, but was paired for the dependency increase.)

The other 16 Republicans who reversed themselves under pressure and voted against the bills they themselves introduced were: Clar-dy, Mich. (paired against); Busbey and Mason, Ill.; Cole, Javits and Wharton, of N. Y.; Kersten of Wis.;
Poff, Va.; Rees, Kans.; Simpson,
Pa.; McDonough and Utt, Calif.;
Bates, Mass.; Hagen, Minn.; Warburton, Del.; and Bentley, Mich., who though unable to vote was paired against.

NO TRAITOR SHE

Most courageous Republican was Edith Nourse Rogers, Mass., chairman of the Veterans Affairs Committee. When called a traitor and bluntly reminded that if the tax bill were to include the $700 dependency exemption, the loss in tax revenue might force the shelving of some of her bills for aiding disabled war vets, the congresswoman from New England flared back:

"I'm still going to vote for recommittal. I just dare anyone to try to punish the veterans because of my vote!"

Note: Another who felt the "terrific" pressure was GOP Congressman Gardner Withrow of Wisconsin. One hour before the House vote, he told friends that he intended to vote for the $700 dependency allowance. One hour later, With-row mysteriously recorded himself against. House leaders had a "little talk" with Withrow.

Recommend Congress Pay Damages for Explosion in Texas

TEXAS CITY, Tex. (AP) — Residents of this bustling industrial port, devastated by an explosion nearly seven years ago, said today it was "wonderful" news a congressional committee recommended the federal government pay damages for the blast that killed more than 500 persons.

Some 560 persons were killed and thousands others injured in the Texas City disaster of April 16, 1947. The tremendous explosions began in nitrate loaded aboard a French freighter.

Lawsuits stemming from the explosions have been in the courts ever since, and the Supreme Court ruled last year the federal government was wholly responsible and recommended that Congress pass a law to pay claims. Individual survivors would get up to $10,000 and industrial firms undetermined amounts, according to the proposal.

Israel Accuses Syria of Massing Troops on Border

JERUSALEM, Israel (AP)—Israel accused Syria today of massing a brigade of infantry on the Israeli frontier and moved to carry its dispute with Jordan before the United Nations Security Council.

An Israeli army spokesman said Syria moved up the infantry brigade in addition to its normal border forces heightening a crisis in the Holy Land. Jordan accused Israeli planes of violating its border.

Israel announced earlier today it was withdrawing "permanently" from the Jordanian-Israeli Mixed Armistice Commission because of the commission's refusal to blame Jordan for the ambush of a bus near Beersheba in which 11 persons were killed.

Jerusalem radio announced that "Israel has asked for the convening of the Security Council to consider the situation following the murder in view of the increasing inefficiency of the supervision organization."

Actress Suzan Ball, Who Lost Right Leg, Will 'Walk Down Aisle'

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Film actress Suzan Ball, whose right leg was amputated Jan. 12, said today she will "walk down the aisle" when she marries actor Dick Long April 11 in Santa Barbara, Calif.

Plans for a marriage earlier this year were delayed when Miss Ball's leg was amputated midway between the knee and the hip to remove a cancerous growth.

"We both wanted a church wedding and I was determined to walk down the aisle under my own power," the 21-year-old actress said. "I'm going to do it, too, but I guess it will have to be on crutches."

$81,800 Damage in W. Frankfort Fire
WEST FRANKFORT, Ill. (AP)—A fire which burned out a two-story building here Tuesday caused damage estimated at $81,800, it was reported today.

Only the walls remained of the building owned by Rolla M. Treece which housed an A&P grocery store and a roller skating rink. Treece estimated loss of the building at $50,000 while A&P officials set the loss of grocery stocks and fixtures at $30,000. The operator of the roller skating rink on the second floor said he lost equipment worth about $1,800.

Firemen had not determined the cause of the blaze but believed it started in the grocery store. The building was on the site of a lumber yard owned by Treece which was destroyed by fire in 1939.

If you have sprinkled clothes for ironing and then discover you cannot get to the chore, don't allow the dampened garments to remain wrapped up. If you do, mildew will result.

CIO Urges Steps To Relieve Unemployment

NEW YORK (AP)—The Congress of Industrial Organizations, called on President Eisenhower today to take immediate steps to relieve unemployment and head off a "full blown depression."

The CIO's 46-man executive board at a meeting here accused the administration of following a "do-nothing, look-the-other-way" policy on unemployment. It offered a 10-point program of tax relief, public works and other steps to meet the situation.

Walter P. Reuther, president of the United Autoworkers union and also head of the parent CIO, announced at the end of the two-day meeting Tuesday night that he personally was opposed to a reduction in the standard 40-hour work week as a way to ease unemployment.

Some CIO unions have suggested that the work week be cut to 30 hours to provide more jobs. Reuther said he could not support this view because it would "simply mean sharing the scarcity" when the country's real need is for more purchasing power rather than more leisure.

Reuther also announced that representatives of all of the CIO's state and city industrial union councils would be called to a special meeting in Washington late next month for further discussion of the growing unemployment problem.

The executive board Tuesday endorsed the George-Douglas bill in Congress which would lower income taxes by increasing personal exemptions from $600 to $800 this year and by another $200 next year.

The board also called for an increase in the federal minimum wage from the present 75 cents an hour to $1.25, along with extension of its coverage to millions of additional workers.

Pfc. Robert D. Moore, grandson of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Wathen of 708 North Webster street, Harrisburg, and son of Mr. and Mrs. Vyn Harker, Glen Park, Ind., will take part in big training maneuvers at Fort Bragg, N. C., starting April 8. He has been stationed at Camp Gordon, Ga., as a team chief in the 229th Signal Support Co., and will help provide communications for the large training maneuver, in which more than 60,000 troops will use the Army's newest weapons and tactics.

Pfc. E. R. Hutchison, son of Mr. and Mrs. William R. Hutchison, RFD 3, Harrisburg, recently joined the Second Armored division in Germany. A member of the 14th Armored Field Artillery battalion, Hutchison entered the army in January 1953 and completed basic training at Camp Atterbury, Ind.

Find Body of Three-Year-Old Girl in River
MARINETTE, Wis. (AP)—Searchers today found the body of three-year-old Mary Wiedlin in the icy, encrusted Menominee River nearly 24 hours after the girl was reported missing.

Sheriff's officers said the child apparently wandered away from her home and tumbled into the river sometime Tuesday morning.

The blonde, blue-eyed girl was the daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Robert Wiedlin. The child's father is a Marinette dentist.

Everett True hooked the handle of his umbrella around the neck of a salesman and pulled him clear over the counter because he persisted in trying to sell Everett shirts, ties and socks when all he wanted was a pair of suspenders.

President Says No One Should Sit In Own Judgment

WASHINGTON AP — President Eisenhower, commenting on Sen. Joseph R. McCarthy, said today that a man involved in a dispute should not sit in judgment on his own case.

The President at his news conference declined to comment directly on McCarthy's insistence that he be permitted the right of cross-examination in the investigation of a dispute between his subcommittee and the Army.

The President did say, however, that he did not believe any leadership could escape the responsibility for carrying on the tradition and practice that a man should not participate in the judgment of his own case.

The President also said certain types of government files would never be released to congressional committees. Specifically, he said the files of the Federal Bureau of Investigation are inviolate and would remain so far as he is concerned.

This followed a question referring to McCarthy's recent criticism of administration retention of a Truman executive order denying secret loyalty and security data to congressional committees.

The questioner cited criticism that retention of this order hampered the work of congressional committees and should be revised or revoked.

After saying with unusual gravity that certain types of files would never be released, the President added that there are other types of files which have been forwarded to committees in summary form.

GOP Chairmen To Meet at Omaha Friday

OMAHA, Neb., (UP) — Republican committee chairmen from almost half of the 48 states meet here Friday to talk about how to elect Republican congressmen next November.

One subject not included on the published agenda of the two-day meeting was "Sen. Joseph McCarthy," a topic sure to come up in closed-door parleys at the meeting.

National Chairman Leonard Hall will attend and get reports from each chairman on problems facing the GOP in each of the 21 Midwestern and Rocky Mountain states represented.

Host Chairman David Martin of Nebraska said McCarthy "certainly is not listed on the program." It includes campaign techniques, the farm program, fund raising and budgets, and other general campaign problems.

Denies Party Split
"I suppose Senator McCarthy will be mentioned informally," Martin said. "But I don't think you'll find it's any serious problem to the Republican Party."

Martin said "communism, not McCarthyism, will be an issue in the elections."

"The Democrats are trying to make an individual a target rather than meet the theme itself," he said.

But Martin said the Democratic strategy has "failed." He said the GOP "isn't split."

States represented at the meeting Friday and Saturday include

Nebraska, the home state of Wisconsin and 20 others spread from Ohio to Arizona.

Ohio Chairman Ray Bliss is in charge of the meeting. Besides Hall, National Campaign Director Robert Humphreys, Public Relations Director James Bassett, and Stephen Harris, director of field activities for the Citizens for Eisenhower Congressional Committee, will speak.

President Praises Gallant Defenders In Indochina War

WASHINGTON AP — President Eisenhower said today the beleaguered troops at Dien Bien Phu should not despair in their gallant defense of the Indochina fortress.

He expressed confidence they will come out all right.

Drawing on his long military experience, the President told his news conference he thought the colonel in command of the fort is particularly praiseworthy.

He said he told a French visitor recently, presumably Gen. Paul Ely, that if he had a colonel in such a position doing such a grand job he would make him a general instantly. Mr. Eisenhower said he was assured that his remark would go in the colonel's record.

The United States has notified the French it is willing to help in a large scale training program aimed at knocking out the Communist rebels in Indochina. Mr. Eisenhower's remarks could be taken as reassurance to the French that this offer implies no United States' feeling of superior military knowledge or bravery.

In the past France has been cool to the suggestion that the U. S. help in training its forces.

Shelley Winters Slaps Girl-Friend of Estranged Hubby

ROME AP — Hollywood's volatile Shelley Winters heaved a mirror at her estranged Italian husband and soundly slapped his Italian girl-friend Tuesday night.

Shelley's anger exploded when Vittorio Gassman turned up on the set of the movie "Mambo," which both are starring, accompanied by Italian actress Anna Marie Ferrero the girl Miss Winters accuses of breaking up her marriage.

The blonde American actress greeted Gassman by heaving a mirror at him. Then she resoundingly slapped the face of the sultry Italian miss. Gassman emerged with the red marks of Shelley's fingernails across his face when he sought to calm her.

Miss Ferrero became an issue between Gassman and Shelley last New Year's when she played "Ophelia" to Gassman's Hamlet in Genoa after Shelley had walked out on her husband.

Later Miss Winters accused Gassman of having interests other than theatrical in the dark-haired Italian girl. Gassman denied it.

Credits Randolph For Improved Morale at Menard

CHICAGO AP — A University of Chicago professor today gave credit to Warden Ross V. Randolph for boosting morale and eliminating tension at Menard prison, site of two riots in 1952.

Lloyd E. Ohlin, who is also director of the Center for Education and Research in Corrections at Chicago, said Randolph had created a "new atmosphere" at Menard.

In a special report, Ohlin said Randolph improved food preparation, cleaned up prison grounds, initiated incentive pay scales in prison work shops and added three members to the psychiatric staff of the prison hospital.

Ohlin said Randolph also enlarged the prison print shop and library, reopened an academic school and commercial training school with a civilian instructor and added new recreational facilities.

Randolph assumed the warden's post after prisoners rioted in September and October, 1952.

Orwig is Named Athletic Director At Nebraska U.

LINCOLN, Neb. (AP)—Bill Orwig, a University of Michigan assistant football coach since 1948, moved into an athletic hot seat today, the post of athletic director at the University of Nebraska.

Orwig, former head grid coach at Toledo, was named to the Husker directorship Tuesday by Dr. Walter W. Beggs, chairman of the university's board of athletics. It was announced Orwig will receive a yearly salary of $12,600.

Orwig succeeds George (Potsy) Clark, former coach of the professional Detroit Lions, who resigned during the heated controversy that surrounded the present Nebraska football coach, Bill Glassford.

Glassford had been openly criticized by several Nebraska players and was asked to resign by petitions circulated by students and players.

Glassford refused to quit and later received a vote of confidence from university officials.

Dodger Official Claims Newcombe, Erskine Best Pitching Punch in League

By United Press

Vice-President Fresco Thompson claimed the "best pitching staff in the National League" for the Brooklyn Dodgers today and predicted that ace Carl Erskine and Don Newcombe "will win 8 to 10 more games this year than Robin Roberts and Curt Simmons."

Erskine and Newcombe figure to be the best 1-2 pitching punch in the league," Thompson said. "I won't predict they'll total 40, 45 or 50 wins but it's a cinch they'll win 8 or 10 more than Roberts and Simmons will total for the Philadelphia Phillies."

Roberts and Simmons, generally regarded as the best 1-2 pitching combination in the circuit, totalling 39 victories for the Phillies last season. They also combined for 37 wins when the Phillies won the pennant in 1950 and for 42 in 1952.

On that basis, Thompson is figuring that Erskine and Newcombe will win at least 45 games and possibly 50 this year. He indicated he won't be surprised if they total 50 victories — more than any National League combination since Bucky Walters and Paul Derringer won 52 games for the Cincinnati Reds in 1939.

Erskine hurled nine innings season in 1953 by setting a World Series record of 14 strikeouts in one game, became the first major leaguer to go nine innings this spring when he limited the Philadelphia Athletics to five hits in Tuesday's 10-2 triumph.

In 19 innings this spring, the 27-year-old change-up artist has allowed only three runs and 14 hits. Newcombe, a 20-game winner in 1951 who is returning after two years in the Army, held the New York Yankees hitless for six innings last Friday night and has allowed only three runs and four hits in 10 innings of Grapefruit League pitching. In addition, the 230-pound fireballer has collected 10 strikeouts victims.

Manager Eddie Stanky of the St. Louis Cardinals was enthusiastic over fine pitching by Vic Raschi, the $80,000 purchase from the Yankees. Raschi, in his longest stint of the spring, pitched six shutout innings Tuesday as the Cardinals edged out the Milwaukee Braves, 6-5.

Giants Blank Cubs

Mickey Vernon drove in the winning run with a single to give Washington's Bob Portierfield a 3-2 verdict over Philadelphia's Roberts in a contest between the leading winners in both leagues. Portierfield, a 22-game winner for the Senators, allowed two runs in seven innings while Roberts gave three in six. Simmons shut out the Senators with one hit during the last three innings.

The New York Giants hammered Warren Hacker for five runs in four innings to beat the Chicago Cubs, 5-0, behind steady pitching by Larry Jansen and Johnny Antonelli. Hacker, hard-luck pitcher of the N. L. when he had a 12-19 record last season, has yielded 19 runs in 12 innings this spring.

The Chicago White Sox scored their fourth victory in five games when they belted 11-game winner Ned Garver for seven runs in six innings and went on to a 9-7 decision over the Detroit Tigers. Willard Marshall sparked Chicago's attack with a two-run homer in the first inning.

In other games, rookie Tom Brewer stretched his scoreless string to 17 innings as the Boston Red Sox beat the Cincinnati Reds, 2-0.

Jackie Robinson Is Sure He Can Play in 140 Games

VERO BEACH, Fla. (AP)—Jackie Robinson dispelled a raft of fears in the Brooklyn camp today when he expressed confidence in his ability to play 140 games for the Dodgers this year.

"My knee feels fine and I'm pretty sure it's going to be all right," Robinson said after testing his ailing left knee in Tuesday's 10-2 rout of the Philadelphia Athletics.

"I still hope to be able to play 140 games this year," he continued. "That's what I said when I reported and it still goes."

Robinson played left field for the Dodgers Tuesday, handling one routine chance but failing to hit safely in three tries.

The 200-pound slugger, who hit .329 in 136 games last season, had played only 26 innings in Brooklyn's previous 16 games, giving rise to speculation that his injured knee might curtail his activities during the regular National League season.

Manager Walt Alton is apparently convinced that Robinson will fit into the 1954 Dodger scheme of things as the regular left fielder. Jackie played both third base and left field last season after surrendering his regular second base post to rookie Jim Gilliam.

CONSTRUCTION WORK ON EQUALITY HIGH SCHOOL'S new gymnasium will show considerable progress within the next few weeks now that the clearing and excavating has been completed. Some of the foundation work has also been laid. The gym will be of the partial-submerged type. Picture was taken looking east. A stage, with dressing rooms to each side, will be constructed at the eastern end of the playing floor. To the east of the gymnasium a shop department will be constructed, connected with the gym. The southwest corner of the gymnasium will have an entrance way into the school building, in addition to outside entrances.

Speculate Coach, Bevo Francis May Quit Rio Grande

OMAHA, Neb. (AP)—Speculation mounted today that nervous Newt Oliver and his high scoring beanpole "Bevo" Francis might transfer their talents away from tiny Rio Grande (Ohio) College next season.

The weary Rio Grande team, which traveled some 18,000 miles in winning 21 games and losing seven this year, headed home today after ending the season with a 93-75 loss against Creighton Tuesday night.

The four faced Francis slipped around the determined Creighton defenders to pour in 41 points in the losing cause and finished the season with an astounding total of 1,314 points.

Oliver, who ordered his team off the floor in protest against the officiating in an all star game Monday night, hinted he was looking for a "better deal."

"I don't know what I'll do," he said. "Naturally you always are looking for a better deal." He expressed dissatisfaction with the athletic facilities at Rio Grande. Bevo, who said he wanted to "get back to school," said he planned to play for Rio Grande next year "unless Oliver moves. Then, if there's any chance to do it, I'd move too."

35 Candidates for Baseball Squad at Carrier Mills High School

Thirty-five candidates answered the first call for baseball practice at Carrier Mills high school Coach Claude Shelton stated today.

The group is short on experience and practically every position is wide open, Shelton indicated.

The season will get under way Wednesday, March 31, when Equality will call at Carrier Mills.

Only five games are scheduled to date, two with Equality, two with McLeanboro and a single tilt with Marion. However, it is planned to schedule more games.

Special Board To Study Davies Security Case

WASHINGTON (AP)—Career diplomat John Paton Davies Jr. will accept the jurisdiction of a special board that will probe deeper into his three-year-old security case. State Department officials reported today.

Appointment of the Civil Service security board requested by Secretary of State John Foster Dulles and its subsequent inquiry is expected to drag on through the summer before a decision is reached. Davies plans to return to his diplomatic post in Peru within the next few days subject to recall to give new testimony under oath. His salary is $13,600-a-year.

Davies' case began in 1951 when he was suddenly suspended from his job as a Far Eastern expert on the State Department's top policy planning board. No official reasons were given for the suspension and he was restored to duty.

Asked Case be Reopened

Davies was transferred to Germany as an assistant to the U. S. high commissioner. He was brought home to face congressional investigation on charges he had authored a plan in 1949 to use some Communists on a special Central Intelligence Agency project.

The Senate Internal Security subcommittee, which conducted the inquiry, later charged that Davies had committed perjury in denying that he had recommended that CIA use "certain individuals having Communist associations and connections."

Davies denied the charge and his case quieted down until last Nov. 24. It became prominent again when Sen. Joseph R. McCarthy (R-Wis.) charged in a nationwide address that by Davies' continued employment meant the Eisenhower administration had "struck out" on its pledge to clean up subversives out of government.

Davies asked that his case be reopened at about the same time the State Department started to work on it again.

High School Boy Is Found Guilty of Slaying Coach

ALEDO, Ill. (AP)—A jury today found an 18-year-old high school boy guilty of slaying his school track coach, and after they gave the verdict the jurors embraced the lad.

The jury, five men and seven women, took 10 ballots before returning a verdict of voluntary manslaughter against the youth, James Gipson, who was charged with slaying George Marich, 26, last year after Marich had reprimanded him in study hall.

"This is the most unusual demonstration I have ever seen," Judge Leonard E. Telleen said as women jurors told Gipson, "God bless you," and "Good luck." All seven women were crying as they gave the verdict.

A sentence of from one to seven years was recommended by the jury.

Gipson embraced his parents immediately after the verdict was read. The jury deliberated 21 hours and 22 minutes.

Plane Crash Lands, 15 Escape Injury

COLORADO SPRINGS, Colo. (AP)—A C47 plane, en route from Peterson Field at Colorado Springs to Chanute Air Force Base in Illinois, crash-landed near Kanorado, Kan., late Tuesday but all 15 persons aboard escaped injury.

Peterson Field officials were investigating.

The plane was brought down in a wheat field near the Kansas border, 13 miles east of Burlington, Colo.

The plane was piloted by Lt. Col. C. S. Glens of the Air Defense Command, with Col. K. R. Dykes of the Northeastern Air Command serving as copilot. Private airlines had reported bad icing conditions.

Larson Named To Labor Post

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower today nominated Arthur Larson, dean of the University of Pittsburgh Law School, to be undersecretary of labor.

Larson, 43, a native of Sioux Falls, S. D., was nominated to the vacancy caused by the resignation of Lloyd Mashburn.

After receiving his law degree from the University of South Dakota, Larson practiced in Milwaukee. During most of World War II he served with the Office of Price Administration and the Foreign Economic Administration.

Three Critical Illinois Areas Selected for Sham A-Exercises

CHICAGO (AP)—Rock Island, East St. Louis and Chicago have been tentatively selected as targets in the first nationwide sham atomic bomb exercise, scheduled June 14-15.

State Civil Defense Director Robert M. Woodward said that his staff made the selections after the Civil Defense Administration sent word of the coming exercise.

Dubbed "Operation Alert," the nationwide test is designed to disclose civilian defense and military weaknesses and improve defense efficiency.

At least 42 "critical" target areas will be selected throughout the nation.

THE STORY OF PHILLIPS 66

Flite-Fuel

FROM THE SKYWAYS TO THE HIGHWAYS

FOR MILITARY USE, Phillips originated new super-power aviation fuel components—Di-isopropyl (pronounced di-iso-pro-pull) and HF Alkylate. These made possible more powerful fuels for combat aircraft.

RESTRICTED for use in aviation gasoline, these powerful components have for years been on U. S. Government priority. But now restrictions have been released and Phillips is able to use them in automotive gasoline.

TODAY, Di-isopropyl is available to motorists exclusively in a new gasoline called Phillips 66 Flite-Fuel! It gives increased power, higher anti-knock quality, freedom from stalling...and it's clean-burning!

Disclose U. S.
Ship Also Hit
By 'Hot' Ashes

PEARL HARBOR — Disclosure that heavy radio-active "fall-outs" from the Bikini hydrogen explosion had contaminated a U. S. Navy ship highlighted today a series of developments from the monstrous March 1 blast.

"Hot" ashes spewed up from the testing ground showered down on the Navy tanker Patapasco at an undisclosed point in the Pacific Ocean. None of the six officers and 86 men aboard was injured seriously.

Authorities on Guam reported that 28 American Air Force weather observers on Rongerik Island, some 150 miles east of the blast area, had been hospitalized on Kwajalein and found unharmed.

Reports from Guam also said that all 236 native inhabitants of Ujae Island, 160 miles south of Bikini, had been evacuated following a fallout and will not return until heavy rains wash away the radio-active particles.

Men Return to Duty

The Patapasco put into Pearl Harbor for decontamination on orders of the Navy and the officers and crew received thorough physical examination.

A Navy spokesman emphasized that none of the men was exposed to "sufficient radiation to be in any way harmful."

Two or three crewmen of the Patapasco registered a temporary slight abnormal count of white blood corpuscles, but the deficiency was overcome overnight and the men returned to duty without any reactions, the Navy said.

Decontamination squads have been checking such absorbent materials aboard the Patapasco as mops, brooms and other loose equipment to which radioactive dust could cling.

Sources on Guam said the fall-outs on Rongerik and Ujae islands were caused by the unexpected magnitude of the blast and the failure of usually strong northeast trade winds to carry radioactive particles beyond inhabited areas.

WASHINGTON — Sen. John O. Pastore has assured Congress that the dose of radiation 287 persons received accidentally during a test H-bomb blast March 1 will cause "no lasting effects."

The Rhode Island Democrat also said reports of the radiation burns suffered by 23 Japanese fishermen were "considerably exaggerated."

Pastore made the statements late Tuesday in a report to the Senate-House Atomic Energy Committee of which he is a member. He is just back from the Pacific proving grounds where he made an on-the-spot investigation of the accident exposure.

Humm Motor Co. to Observe Academy
Awards Night

Academy Awards Night, March 25, followed by a two-day Spring showing of new 1954 Oldsmobiles, will be celebrated by Humm Motor company, it was announced today by Victor Humm.

Mr. Humm said his company plans to tie up with the recently announced sponsorship by Oldsmobile of the national telecast and broadcast of "Oscar" presentations to Hollywood's foremost stars. "Our own part in the national event will be to serve as an up-to-the minute local information center on the Academy Awards presentations and to conduct a Gala showing of new 1954 Oldsmobile models," Mr. Humm stated. A beautiful setting has been especially arranged for the occasion.

The Academy Awards presentations will be carried over 105 stations of the NBC-TV network and the full NBC radio network. The telecast and broadcast will be from 9:30 to 11 central standard time.

The program will originate from the RKO Pantages theater in Hollywood. The Academy of Motion Picture Arts and Sciences was founded in 1927. Janet Gaynor and Emil Jannings received the first awards and since then the ceremony has become widely known as "the biggest night of the year in Hollywood."

The campaign will continue with an open house atmosphere for some time as we drive toward a new record of spring season deliveries on new 1954 '88', Super '88', and '88' models, Humm stated.

Haymes and Rita
Plan Long Fight
On Deportation

NEW YORK — Dick Haymes and Rita Hayworth asked friends in Washington today to find out who "inspired" the government deportation action against the Argentine-born crooner.

Bartley Crum, attorney for the singer and his red-haired actress wife, charged that "interested parties brought pressure on the government" to deport Haymes and sabotage his six-month marriage to Rita.

"There are parties who want to see this marriage broken up," Crum said.

Miss Hayworth said she would stick by her trouble-plagued husband "to the end" in his fight against the deportation order handed down Tuesday by the U. S. Immigration Service.

Attorneys already had filed an appeal of the deportation decision and said they would fight to the Supreme Court if necessary to reverse it. Crum said the case might be tied up in court for as long as four years.

KILL WITH CARE

THE STORY: Two "monsters" in a faked publicity stunt in front of a theater where a horror bill was showing, stabbed Police Chief Otto Drover. The only clue was a phone call received some time prior to the murder by Chief Drover. The call may have come from Mr. Atwood, a banker who was a friend of the chief's.

IV

Back at headquarters, after going to the hospital with Nancy, Jim found something new had been added in the short, stock figure of a loud-voiced man. In his fifties, still dressed as if he, too, had been extracted from the reception, his red face was made redder by the ice blue of his shrewd eyes.

"Tony Hughes," Mayor Stone said. "A good friend of mine. I have used my emergency powers to appoint him temporary chief of police."

"You were at the wedding?" Hughes asked as they shook hands. "Yes. Of course. The best man. Now, about this terrible, terrible thing." If Tony Hughes made any effort to soften the resonant, booming tones of his voice it was completely without success. "I was stunned when I heard the news at the reception. A splendid man, Chief Drover. A great blow to our community. A loss to all of us. Why, my dear wife just keeled right over in a dead faint when she heard the news. Just like that." He snapped short thick fingers.

Jim mumbled something which could be taken as agreement, an expression of sympathy, or anything else Hughes chose.

"We've blocked off the highways all around town. And I've given orders to get in touch with Richards if possible. Did he tell you where he was going?"

"Only somewhere he would be hard to find," Jim said. "You have any special reason for blocking the highways?"

"A good reason indeed. This obviously is the work of out-of-town professional killers. It stands out clearly. Hired killers, who knew their business and went about it methodically."

"Oh? You picked out the one who hired them?"

Jim was treated to a glare from the cold eyes. "Give us a little time. We're considering Otto's enemies. A chief of police would naturally have enemies."

Jim could not keep down a feeling of resentment that Chief Drover should be called Otto by this man. He asked, "You know any local ones? Local enemies, I mean?"

"We're looking into that," Hughes stated. "They'll all be picked up and questioned. This is all pretty new to me, and I want to make progress slowly but surely. Furniture's my line. But I've always said any man who can run a successful business can head any department of government with equal success."

Jim risked a look at Early and thought the man's left eye drooped for just a fraction of a second. "You're probably right," Jim said. "Maybe you'd like me to run your furniture store while you're busy here? I've always said anyone who can be a successful detective can run any kind of business."

Hughes laughed shortly with his thick lips and disclosed an array of impossibly even white teeth. Evidently his dentures dated back to the time when porcelain was more common than plastic.

"What about the local nuts and crackpots?" Jim asked.

Jim stopped abruptly at a small but insistent signal from Tim Early, found he was on the receiving end of glares again. This time from both the mayor and the new chief.

"Trust us to take steps," the mayor said.

"Let's follow up our lead," Early put in so quickly he almost drowned out His Honor's words. "Peter Atwood. Maybe Chief Drover was going down to see him. Atwood's bank is in the Holt Block, and we have the idea Drover was talking to him earlier on the phone." Early took Jim's arm and propelled him from the room.

Jim did not stop the headlong rush until they were on the sidewalk. "Slow up a little! Did I say something wrong?"

Early grinned, then changed the expression to one of distaste. "Not really, but I didn't know how much further you were going to go. Mayor Stone's a widower and he has one son, 19 or thereabouts. Some people, the more charitable ones, say the boy isn't quite bright."

Jim nodded. For not the first time he was very conscious of what impact a few careless and even innocent words could have. Regardless of intention, the words could be given a personalized meaning by the sensitive person.

"The new chief and the mayor are good friends?"

"So they say. Real close."

"You'd say that was the reason Hughes was glaring at me too? Afraid I'd hurt his friend's feelings?"

"Could be," Early admitted. "Then again it might be Hughes thought you were making cracks about his son, Tony, Jr."

"There's something wrong with him too?"

"Depends on the way you look at it," Early said. "Young Hughes is a genius. Won a science prize in high school, couple years ago. And he wrote the senior class play." Early chuckled. "Some play. All about fairies and elves, magic and things like that. Had to read about it in the paper next day to find out what went on. Going to Denver University, he is now. Honor student." Early hesitated then added, "Guess he's real bright. Had to pick him up once on a shoplifting charge. Nothing proved. Well, now, he's about 19 or 20."

In Loving Memory

In remembrance of my dear son, Charles McClusky, who passed away one year ago today, March 24, 1953.

He bid no one a last farewell.

He said goodbye to none;

His loving heart ceased to beat.

Before we knew it, he was gone.

He did not fail to do his best.

His heart was true and tender;

He always lent a helping hand to either friend or stranger,
